Summary

Hi :) Nice to meet you there by reading this. I am a kind, open-hearted, confident, smart, sometimes shy, and cute boy. My passion for all these cool programming stuff is so big. I am an extra fast-learning person. Search, retrieve and explore information, digging to find solutions, diving deeper into the problem environment - it is all about me. And you can ask me: "What makes you unique and why should we hire you?". My answer is next. I am not working only to finish tasks. I'm trying to do more and find weaknesses in the system. Discover wonderful and simple solutions, propose creative ideas and methods to achieve our purposes in a better way. It is not only about work, it is about common goals and methods to achieve them. It matters to me.

Quickly learn and use new technology, write clean, simple and maintainable, beautiful code without mess and spaghetti, design robust architecture of program, good math and algorithms - these are my skills as a developer. All the time I used to learn something new for me: new programming language, technology, API, platform and so on.

I very like to speak, communicate with people, discuss interesting topics, play in a team, and do things together. My personal interests are solving Rubik's cube, chess, checkers, workout, running, spend time in reality with friends, dancing shuffle, talking with girls :), sometimes drink and smoke (but not often) and do things for fun.
